Dementia has been as a concept since the beginning of human history.

People with dementia are significantly less constrained to traditional conventions of language and knowing than those of us who consider ourselves "cognitively adjusted" as they grow less able to participate in the hyper-cognitive culture in which we all live.

As a Co-creator and Leader of The Joy of Dementia and Coordinator of Reimagining Dementia, Ms Fridley has extensive experience in moving the conversation about ageing and dementia in a positive and inclusive direction.

Ms Mary Fridley
